

HEAVY LOSSES BY RUSSIANS

Eight Hundred of the Czar's Soldiers Killed in the Battles of Saturday.

CAUGHT THE JAPANESE NAPPING

Czar's Soldiers Attacked the Japanese Camps Early in the Morning, and a Fierce Battle Followed.

[Special by Scripps-McLain.]

Shan Hai Kwan, July 11.—A report current here yesterday which has been traced to Chinese sources, states that the Japanese have begun an attack on both New Chwang and Ta Schi Tao, where the Russians have made their main effort to check the Japanese advance. The attack on Ta Schi Tao is said to have been made from the east and south, a portion of Oku's division having apparently advanced from Kal Ping, while Nodzu's army has advanced from Simucheng. No details of the reported battles can be obtained. No news has reached here from Liao Yang today and nothing is known of the progress of the Japanese movement against the Russian headquarters, but the impression prevails that it was merely a feint.

Kal Ping News Withheld

Paris, July 11.—The Paris newspapers are worked up over the action of the Russian general staff in withholding from the public the news of the abandonment of Kal Ping after an sanguinary engagement. Up to last night all that had been given out in St. Petersburg regarding the action was the bare statement that the Japanese were advancing against Kal Ping.

It is definitely known that the battle was one of the most bloody of the war and that the Russians resisted to the last, finally being compelled to retreat, leaving behind them ten guns, which fell into the hands of the Japanese.

The Japanese are following up their advantage and fighting is going on all along the line. Official dispatches which were withheld are known to show conclusively that the Japanese are displaying prodigious activity despite the rain and are moving rapidly over roads that would be impassable to the troops of any other nation.

Togo Still Bombarding
Chefoo, July 11.—Very little news has been received today of the land attack on Port Arthur, except a vague report that the Japanese continue their advance and maintain a heavy fire against the Russian positions.

A story to the effect that a Japanese warship had been torpedoed last night about three miles off shore by a Russian torpedo boat under cover of darkness, was brought in today, but has not yet been confirmed. Togo is said to be proceeding with the bombardment, but with what effect, cannot be learned. The ships, however, are said to have got the exact range of the Russians' vessels in the harbor and also the main fortifications, through co-operation with the Japanese troops on land. If this is true, the bombardment must be effective and disastrous to the Russians.

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Two cablegrams received at the Japanese legation today from Tokio contain the following advices:

"Gen. Kuroki reports that on July 6 our detachment, expelling 300 Russian cavalry, occupied Hsien Chang, thirty miles northeast of Salmachi. There were no casualties on our side.

"On July 5 we repulsed a Russian cavalry regiment under Col. Chichlinsky, which came to attack near North Fengcheng. Our casualties were four killed and three wounded.

"Gen. Oku reports that our second army commenced operations July 6 for occupying Kal Ping. After successfully dislodging Russians from their positions, we finally occupied Kal Ping and neighboring heights on July 9."

Try to Enter Port Arthur Harbor
Tokio, July 11.—The Japanese torpedo fleet made an attempt to force the entrance to Port Arthur during the storm of last Friday night, but failed. Two of the destroyers picked up the Russian cruiser Askold and sent a number of torpedoes at her, but whether they reached the mark or not is not known.

London, July 11.—The Tokio correspondent of the Central News cables that in the fighting at Kal Ping Maj. Gen. Kozumi was shot in the hip. The wound is serious.

800 Buried in Port Arthur
Chefoo, July 11.—Two Chinese junkies which ran the blockade of Port Arthur during Saturday night arrived here last night. The crews report that the Russians had lost very heavily during the last few days and say that on July 5 and 6 after the last severe fighting more than 800 dead Russians were brought into the fortress and buried in the town cemetery. Among the dead are said to be two officers of high rank.

Are Marching
Moscow, July 11.—A Liao Yang correspondent of the newspaper Novosti reports that the Japanese advance column has appeared on the main road to Mukden.

Capture the Key
Rome, July 11.—A dispatch to the Agenzia Libera from Chefoo reports that Chungtao, the key to the defense of Port Arthur, has been captured by the Japanese. The fighting is proceeding all along the chain of hills between Chungtao and Port Arthur. The report adds the Russian battleship Retvizan and another battleship have been destroyed. No details are given.

New York, July 11.—At the present time, when Japan threatens to make a formal protest against the action of Germany and France in permitting munitions of war and general military supplies to be shipped from points within their jurisdiction to Russia, a good deal of interest is manifested in the many shipments from this port to Japanese points.

The latest of these vessels to leave was Barber & Co.'s Orinley, which was being loaded an entire cargo of railroad material, about 7,000 tons; for Japan, for a few days past in the North Pier, Brooklyn. She cleared for Fusan and other ports of the far east.

Under present conditions the ship's cargo is contraband of war. So would be flour, oil, rice, corn or anything else that can be taken to Japan. There is no secrecy about these shipments to Japan or intermediate ports and the underwriters have raised the ante on the war risks. The possibility of Russian vessels appearing off the entrance of the Suez canal, entailing capture and possible confiscation, has more than one steamship to desert the regular chosen courses and "cut cross-lanes" to reach their destination.

Hard Fighting
Chefoo, July 11.—Heavy firing was heard in the direction of Port Arthur last night. It lasted from midnight to three o'clock this morning.

Russians Lose 800 in Fight.
Chefoo, July 11.—Chinese junkmen who have arrived here from Port Arthur say that on Tuesday, July 6, Chinese carriers brought into the town over 800 Russian dead, two of whom were high officials.

They state that a part of the Japanese force advanced to within six miles of the beleaguered town, taking another Eastern fort. A dispatch from Chefoo, dated July 7, stated that in the fighting which occurred on July 4 over the possession of one of the hills northeast of Port Arthur, the Russians lost, according to Chinese, 100 men killed and fifty men wounded. Fifty Chinese carriers were sent out to bring in the Russian dead and wounded.

Catches Kuroki Napping.
Liao Yang, July 11.—The recent reconnaissance in force beyond Hot Yan was carried out with swiftness and decision. The Russians twice caught the Japanese napping and demonstrated the effectiveness of Russian bayonet work once the troops got to close quarters.

Count Keller personally accompanied the force to Hot Yan, and from there sent Colonel Garnett, with three companies, to the right toward Tcha Kumen Za, and Colonel Letschitsky, with two battalions, in the direction of Takalintze.

Colonel Garnett's column arrived at the Japanese camp at midnight July 4. A Japanese picket was surprised and wiped out after fighting bravely, one Japanese killing a Russian officer in a sword duel.

Rush Into Jap Camp.
The Russians, without pausing, swept into the camp, carrying the half-awakened Japanese over the brow of the hill at the point of the bayonet. The few who escaped carried the news, as the result of which on the next day the Japanese brought up two regiments and forced a Russian retreat.

Colonel Letschitsky had a very similar experience. He caught the Japanese camp asleep at 2 o'clock in the morning and carried it with the bayonet after terrible slaughter and without firing a shot.

The Russians lost heavily on the retreat next day, but the reconnaissance was satisfactory, as it demonstrated the strength and location of the Japanese forces.

Colonel Letschitsky's force marched over sixteen miles in a single night, carrying the wounded back over a mountainous road. Count Keller is holding the gateway to Liao Yang.

Attacks Russian Fleet.
Tokio, July 11.—During a storm on Friday night, July 8, a flotilla of torpedo boats of Admiral Togo's fleet approached Port Arthur. On the following morning one of the torpedo boats found and attacked the Russian cruiser Askold, but the result of the attack is unknown. The Askold fired on the torpedo boat, two petty officers being severely wounded.

ANDREW CUNEO AN ASSASSIN'S VICTIM

Shot in Front of His Place of Business by a Member of a Rival Firm.

[Special by Scripps-McLain.]
Chicago, Ill., July 11.—Andrew Cuneo, a member of the firm of Cuneo Bros., fruit dealers, and well-known throughout the country, was shot and probably fatally wounded at noon in front of his place of business on South Water street by Antony Crescio, his brother-in-law and a member of a rival firm. Crescio for a time was in danger of violence at the hands of an immense crowd, but was rescued by the police. Family differences and business rivalry is supposed to be the cause of the shooting.

MAKE OUT THE TAX LEVY THIS EVENING

Important Business Will Be Transacted at Regular Meeting of City Council Tonight.

At the regular meeting of the city council this evening the tax levy for the year will be made out. It will be considerably larger than last year for good and sufficient reasons. Final action will probably be taken on the ordinance providing for the issuing of school bonds and the committee will doubtless report on Fire Chief Klein's recommendation for a substitute wire ordinance, offered at the last session.

WILL RECOVER FROM INTERURBAN LINE

Judgment for Plaintiff and Injunction Is Ordered in Action Brought by Ada Brunson.

In the case of Ada P. Brunson and Janesville Ry. Co., the judge has signed findings ordering a judgment in favor of the plaintiff against the railway company and enjoining the latter from using a part of Wall street in front of the premises just west of the First Presbyterian church. The execution of the injunction is to be stayed until the interurban company has had an opportunity to secure title by condemnation proceedings, or such other process as may be found expedient. The findings in the similar actions brought by the plaintiffs, McClure, Murdoch, and Edwards, against the same defendant have not yet been signed but the cases are said to be identical with the first named. Attorney Charles Pierce represents the plaintiffs. The actions were commenced on the ground that the line in question is not a street railway but a commercial railway whose principal business is done as a carrier between cities and that it is therefore to condemn the property it traverses and pay for its use. The property holders represented in the suits protested against the interurban traversing the highways in front of their property from the first.

Ironwood, Mich., July 11.—The residence of Earl Walton, superintendent of Brotherton and Sunday Lake mines at Wakefield, east end of Gogebic range, was blown up by dynamite early today. The family escaped uninjured. It is thought the explosion was due to recent labor troubles in the mines.

New Castle, July 11.—Mrs. W. R. Starbuck, who was the victim of a murderous assault Saturday night, died at eight o'clock this morning. She regained consciousness long enough to say, "Dad, a rough man hurt me and threw me in the well." The excitement is intense and lynching will probably follow the capture of the murderer.

TELEPHONE GIRLS GET A SCARE

Drunken Men Frighten Hello Girls of the Rock County Telephone Company Sunday.

Yesterday afternoon two young men from Milton went to the Rock County Telephone office in the Jackson block and telephoned some of their friends in that village for money, after which they left the office. Shortly afterwards they returned to the office much under the influence of drink, and asked if the money was forthcoming, and were informed that it was not. They warned the lady operators at the office if the money was not there upon their return there would be trouble. The young ladies locked the doors immediately after they left and telephoned for an officer, but could not locate one. The men returned and finding the door locked immediately proceeded to break it down, but were soon scared away before the arrival of an officer.

HAVE YOUR FARM VACCINATED NEXT

Means Devised by Scientists to Make the Worm Out Farms Profitable.

Have you had your farm vaccinated? If not, you should proceed to have it done at once. Science has done a great deal for the farmers. It has killed the bugs and worms that prey on his crops, it has treated his animals when sick and saved their lives, it has experimented with seeds and raised the quality and quantity of their yields, it has done a great many things to help him achieve success.

The latest service of special interest which we have heard is that of the process of inoculating sterile ground and making it bring forth the fruit in abundance is an easy task. Inoculating to prevent smallpox, diphtheria, rabies, etc., we knew about, but it is quite as mysterious as the inoculation of the old wornout soils to make them fertile.

Certain germs make for fertility of the soil. They are collected or generated by the department of agriculture according to this veracious authority, and sent by mail in a small package about like a yeast cake. The all their new million dollar structure on Holden Hill overlooking Newport harbor, adjoining the estate of Mrs. French, mother of Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt, is completed. The original plans were rejected a short time ago, as Mrs. Brown intended to expend only a portion of that amount, but the plans when altered so pleased her that orders were given for the architects to go ahead and begin operations.

PARKER IS FOR GOLD STANDARD

Democratic Nominee for President Stands Pat on This...Convention Endorses Him.

THE DECISION CAUSES EXCITEMENT

Delegates Endorse Message. Although Bryan Fights It Strenuously—Wonderful Scenes Are Enacted.

St. Louis, Mo., July 11.—With Judge Alton B. Parker as the nominee for president and ex-Senator H. G. Davis of West Virginia the nominee for vice president, the Democratic national convention concluded its work at 1:31 o'clock Sunday morning and adjourned without date. The great issue of the night was over the adoption of a reply to Judge Parker's telegram declaring his position as a gold standard man.

Not in Conflict With Party.

Finally, by a vote of 774 to 191, the convention adopted the reply drafted by John Sharp Williams, assuring Judge Parker that his view on the gold standard was not in conflict with the party's platform. Chairman Clark was authorized to send the reply to Judge Parker.

After that the convention nominated ex-Senator Davis for vice president unanimously.

Delegates Are Excited.

During Saturday afternoon many wild rumors were afloat respecting the telegram sent by Judge Parker. Some had it that the nominee had declined to accept the honor unless a gold plank was inserted in the platform.

Delegates became excited over the matter, and many declared that they had been trapped. Afternoon papers added to the feeling of discontent by publishing various versions of the telegram.

Former Governor Sheehan of New York, after consultation with the party leaders, decided to submit the message to the convention.

Bryan Defies His Physician.
William Jennings Bryan arose from a sick bed to make his appearance in the convention hall, and was greeted with warm applause. He arrived as John Sharp Williams was discussing the matter in rather spirited fashion. The Nebraskaan took issue with the Mississippi statesman and implored the delegates not to break up the harmony that had found a resting place among the democrats. His voice was

CHAS. SLOAN BACK FROM BONESTEEL

Tells Something About the Big Rush and the Chances—Says All Land Is Fine.

Charles J. Sloan returned Saturday evening from Bonesteel, South Dakota, where he registered for himself and Percy E. Clarke, who served in the Spanish war. He arrived at one o'clock in the afternoon and there were over six hundred on his train. The task was not a difficult one, however, as an efficient corps of forty men is employed in taking the registrations and is able to handle 400 people in an hour's time. It was necessary for Mr. Sloan to remain in Bonesteel only five hours. He figures that the total number of registrations made at Bonesteel, Chamberlain, Yankton, and Fairfax, will be in the neighborhood of 175,000. As there are 482,000 acres or about 2,400 all-waters of 160 acres each to be allotted, the chance of being one of the lucky ones appears to be about 100 to one. Mr. Sloan says that the land is fine and will average up in quality better than that of Rock county. While on his trip he ran across Fred Smith who formerly lived here.

BRYAN BETTER TO GO TO HIS HOME

Nebraska Leader Will Leave St. Louis as Soon as He Is Able for Lincoln.

[Special by Scripps-McLain.]
St. Louis, July 11.—W. J. Bryan who was taken with an attack of pneumonia Saturday is much better today. All the serious symptoms were warded off, and he is only suffering with cold and hoarseness. He expects to leave for Lincoln tonight.

RICHEST BABY'S MOTHER ORDERS $1,000,000 HOME

Newport, R. I., July 11.—Mrs. John Nicholas Brown has sailed for Europe with her son John Nicholas Brown, Jr., the richest baby boy in America, where they will remain today. All their new million dollar structure on Holden Hill overlooking Newport harbor, adjoining the estate of Mrs. French, mother of Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt, is completed. The original plans were rejected a short time ago, as Mrs. Brown intended to expend only a portion of that amount, but the plans when altered so pleased her that orders were given for the architects to go ahead and begin operations.

Ex-President Cleveland wired: "You must permit me to express gratitude and admiration for the splendid manifestation of honor and courage you have given your countrymen and to democracy in your St. Louis dispatch."

Bets at One to Two Are Offered on Wall Street by Brokers Now.

weak, but at times he rose to his old-time eloquence.

The convention finally adopted the draft submitted by Mr. Williams in reply to Judge Parker. Both messages follow:

Parker to Sheehan.
"Esopus, N. Y., July 9.—Hon. William F. Sheehan, Convention Hall, St. Louis, Mo.: I regard the gold standard as firmly and irrevocably established by law, and I shall act accordingly. If the action of the convention today is ratified by the people, inasmuch as the platform is silent upon this subject, I deem it necessary to make this communication to the convention for its consideration, as I should feel it my duty to decline the nomination except upon this understanding."

Convention's Reply.
"The platform adopted by this convention is silent on the question of the monetary standard because it is not regarded by us as a possible issue in the campaign and only campaign issues were mentioned in the platform. Therefore, there is nothing in the views expressed by you in the telegram just received which would preclude a man entertaining them from accepting a nomination on said platform."

Davis for Vice President.
Henry G. Davis, former United States senator from West Virginia, was nominated for the vice presidency by the Democratic national convention at 1:10 o'clock Sunday morning.

The nomination by a national convention on Sunday was unprecedented in the history of American conventions.

The vote for vice presidential candidates was as follows: Davis, 646; Williams, 166; Turner, 92; Harris, 58.

The motion to make the vote unanimous was made by Ohio. The vote for Davis was almost up to the vote on Parker, his being 658 before any delegates changed their votes.

A. W. BAUMANN LOST HIS SUNDAY DINNER

Thieves Enter Refrigerator at an Early Hour Saturday Evening and Get Away with Contents.
Sometime during Saturday evening thieves entered the home of A. W. Baumann on Mineral Point avenue and relieved him of his Sunday dinner, which had been placed in the refrigerator in an adjoining room to the kitchen of his house. The wire on the screen door was cut just enough to unfasten the hook which held the door and the thieves helped themselves to all the eatables in the refrigerator, leaving all the dishes out in the backyard. This is the second time that Mr. Baumann's residence has been visited within the past three months. The first time Mr. Baumann lost about $150 worth of jewelry.

PARKER SWAMPED WITH TELEGRAMS

Democratic Candidate for President Takes Life in His Usual Manner.

[Special by Scripps-McLain.]
Esopus, N. Y., July 11.—Telegrams of congratulation are pouring in on Judge Parker this morning. Parker was up at his usual hour looking over the mail and a number of telegrams. Then he went on a long drive in the country. This afternoon he spent in answering some letters and telegrams. Among the congratulations received this morning were telegrams from ex-President Cleveland, ex-Vice President Adlai Stevenson, William R. Hearst and many other prominent politicians and personal friends.

MONTANA TO BE LEADING COUNTRY

GUY MITCHELL TELLS OF IRRIGATION WORK.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE THERE

Great Possibilities for the Future, for Earnest, Hard Workers.

The great copper, silver, and gold state of the union, potent as has been their influence in her development and while they are yet far from their maximum output and value, must soon take a second place in the state's resources. It is Montana's destiny to be one of the richest agricultural states in the union. As the agriculture of Colorado, now the foremost state in the production of precious metals, has already outstripped her mines, so in a few years Montana's farming land her mines.

While lands of surpassing fertility, in which agricultural plant food has lain stored for centuries, with no drenching rains to leach them away, and with a magnificent water supply from the rain and snows which fall upon the high peaks and water sheds of the Continental Divide, Montana's fat cattle and sheep, splendid fruit, heavy grains and varied agricultural products will become widely famous.

Great Agricultural Wealth

"The next ten years," said a prominent official of the government reclamation service, in speaking of the great present and coming development of the far northwest, "will see Montana lead all the western states in the area of her irrigated land. Her agricultural future is assured and brilliant. She has the land and she has the water—all that are needed in the arid region to produce a fabulous wealth."

Montana has an area equal to that of France, and it has often been stated by various authorities, with all her great water supply conserved and made to irrigate her lands, room for as dense a population as that of France.

Over three-fifths of this great state is drained by the Missouri river and its big tributaries, such as the Yellowstone, the Jefferson, the Milk river and other branches. Strong rivers these are, rushing down out of their mountain fastnesses—the Absaroka, the Snowy, the Big Horn and the Wind river ranges—where at elevations of 8 and 10 and 11 thousand feet the snows are perpetual, melting under the summer suns and furnishing a constant water supply, especially in the late summer when it is most needed for irrigation.

Much has already been accomplished by co-operative effort in irrigation among farmers. The irrigated area, according to the census figures, has increased during the past two years at the rate of about 100,000 acres a year and now aggregates 1,340,000 acres. This has been accomplished by the co-operation of small communities and some of the most successful examples are seen at such places as Hinsdale and Chiswick in the Great Milk River valley where farmers have combined, taking up land under the five-year homestead law and constructing their own irrigation works, thus owning the land and the water and paying no rent or tribute to water companies or water bondholders.

Small Cost of Irrigated Homes

Most of these works have been simple diversion propositions without expensive dams and the cost has been very light. Land reclamation averages according to the 1900 census, but $1.92 per acre. The opportunities are legion where bands of twenty or forty or one hundred enterprising farmers with a little money and with their strong arms and good teams may build diversion or storage dams and lead the water out upon 160-acre homestead claims, building up homes upon the desert which will make each and everyone of them prosperous and wealthy. The great productivity of Montana's lands is shown by the census figures. The total amount invested in ditches in Montana up to June 1, 1900, was $1,683,073 while the total value of irrigation products for the one year, 1899, was $7,230,012.

At the rate of increase in farming and irrigation in the state during the last census decade the next ten years will see Montana's cultivated area trebled if not quadrupled, even leaving out of consideration the vast reclamation works proposed by the federal government under the national irrigation law.

Changing the Course of Nature

The project for storing the flood waters of the Milk river in northern Montana under the direction of Engineer Cyrus C. Babb, of the geological survey, is one of the first great works investigated by the government engineers, even before the passage of the national irrigation act. This involves huge dams and canals, and will reclaim a very large area—probably half a million acres—of exceedingly rich land in the already famous Milk River valley. It will be a famous engineering exploit, by which the water now flowing into the Saskatchewan, and thence into Hudson bay will be carried into the Missouri basin and ultimately reach the Gulf of Mexico. The government has also taken up the Fort Buford project in eastern Montana and North Dakota and is likewise preparing to spend $2,500,000 in the Wyoming-Shoshone project which will reclaim some of the lands in southern Montana. These are the most advanced of the government works. In various other parts of the state the national hydrographers are making reconnaissance and surveys, investigating reservoir sites and reclaimable areas.

A serious menace, however, to the agricultural future of the state lies in the tendency to land speculation to immense private holdings, which have resulted largely through the abuse of the desert land act and the commuted clause of the homestead act, under which government land is entered by speculators and dumbeles and not by actual settlers. W. W. Woodruff, president of the Montana Fruit Growers' association in a recent address cited 11 great ranches in Montana with an average acreage each of 55,000 and showed statistically the greater benefit which would have come to the state had these been settled up into several thousand small farms and occupied by settlers and their families. There seems to be a strong sentiment throughout the state for the repeal of these laws leaving only the original homestead law which has worked so successfully in building up co-operative irrigation colonies in the Milk River valley.

Irrigation Increases Mining

All of this great promise of agriculture will, however, but add to Montana's fame as a mining state. "Speaking from a miner's standpoint," said the geological survey official above quoted, "Montana's surface has been but indifferently scratched. We know that whole mountains exist, of one too expensive to work because the cost of living for man and beast is too high. The state has thousands of other mountains of which we know little or nothing. Montana is a vast country of itself; the mountains of its western half cover thousands and tens of thousands of square miles. Now extend agriculture through the state, lead the great streams out of their deep channels and spread them over some millions of acres of arid soil and this mountain wealth can be turned to man's account, railroads will penetrate the desert and Montana can almost supply the world with the metals."

Watermelons at 35 cents apiece may soon be obtained on the market. The season is still early, and the advance of it will bring the melons fruit down to the more popular price of 25 cents. The melons are very sound and quite ripe, the rainy season evidently having been very favorable to their growth.

Strawberries

The strawberry season is wanting, hence the cheapness of the fruit. The popular price is four boxes for a quarter, although today farmers were selling the berries on the street five boxes for 20 cents, making them 4 cents a box. They were, however, in rather poor condition, and could not possibly last another day. Large ripe peaches may be had at grocers and fruit dealers for 35 cents a basket, or from 15 to 25 cents a dozen.

Berries

The season for berries and small fruit is making its appearance. Currants, gooseberries, blueberries, cherries and plums are on sale at fairly reasonable prices.

Potatoes

New potatoes still sell for 40 cents a peck, and have become no cheaper since last week. Many housewives who for weeks and weeks have been using new potatoes assert that it is much cheaper to use them than the old, as much of the old potato must needs be cut away. On the other hand there is no waste to the new potato. The fine, thin skin comes off easily, disclosing the perfectly sound, firm vegetable.

At the home of the bride in Evansville Charles Severson, a popular young Janesville man employed in the grocery department at Lowells, and Miss Ida Goodnough were married by Rev. James Churn at four o'clock on Wednesday. Joseph Davis was best man and Miss Ida Horner of Edgerton acted as bridesmaid. Many useful gifts were received, including a purse containing $40 in gold. After the wedding repast was served the happy couple took their departure for their future home in Janesville.

Recent six weeks (up on the great lakes that has directly involved only a couple of thousand men, but indirectly more than 100,000, who have been idle because of its existence, a cessation has been brought to the strike by the surrender of the masters, who, with the pilots, have been holding out for a more uniform scale of wages this season than was offered by the Lake Carriers' Association, whose boats were most affected by the difficulty between the vessel owners and their employees. The strike has been one of the most costly in wages and time lost and stagnation that has occurred in recent years.

COWBOYS KILL HERD OF SHEEP

Employees of Cattlemen Swoop Down on Eig Lawson Bunch.

Aspen, Col., July 11.—Word has reached here that 1,500 sheep owned by H. H. Lawson of Salt Lake City have been killed by Gunnison county cowboys. Lawson had several thousand sheep on the ranges in this vicinity. One bunch was in Taylor park in charge of three herders. The cowboys swooped down upon the herders and disarmed them. Then they cut the throats of about 1,500 of the sheep.

WITH MANY NOVEL FEATURES

The Tennessee embroideries find an extensive use in the summer gowns and appear to excellent advantage in this costume of white linen, the embroidery being backed with white chiffon. The stock and the round yoke are of the open-work, to which the blouse is applied with little bouillonné shirtings, these being repeated above and below the hip insertion of embroidery on the skirt. The sleeve follows the line of the blouse, the cuff being of embroidery, and conspicuously loose. The skirt has a shallow yoke above the insertion, and to this the skirt is shirred, falling in full folds to the broad-bound hem.

JANESVILLE WINS IN A GOOD GAME

Base Ball Fans Watch Madison Lose by a Score of Seven to One.

Janesville baseball fans who journeyed down to Yost park yesterday saw the boys from this city take the Madison players into camp to the tune of seven to one. The game attracted the largest crowd that has been at any game thus far this year and the Beloit band furnished music for the occasion. Janesville is fast becoming recognized as a baseball town once more and the local team is receiving the good support it deserves.

BEET CROP ON WAY TO HARVEST

The Hardest Work Is Now Over—Results Will Be Very Good in the Fall.

(By La Fayette Myers.)

The local showers the past week greatly assisted in forcing the growth of the late planting, which is now coming in in a very satisfactory manner.

The entire work on most of the early planted fields is now over until harvest time and the growers are all well pleased with the excellent prospect of a large yield. From the out-of-town districts the reports show that the fields are just as far advanced in growth as around Janesville. All the growers have found out that the growing of beets does not interfere much with their other farm products, especially with tobacco, and many have told us that they could easily have handled twice their acreage of beets this year.

As the success of the beet sugar industry depends entirely on the farmers we are glad to see that the interest they have already shown and the care they have taken in the cultivation of the fields, will this year prove that the sugar beet crop is a very profitable one.

We would encourage all growers whose fields are not yet finished to keep the cultivator going overtime and to keep close watch that the pig-weed grass and weeds do not get started, which will be the tendency now since the rains.

BRIGHT PROSPECT FOR THIS COUNTY

RAINS HAVE ALMOST DOUBLED GROWING CROPS.

PROSPERITY IS TO REIGN

Oats Will Make Fair Crop—Hay a Good Cut—Corn is Booming—Fruits Excellent.

Rains have worked wonders among the farmers of Rock county during the past two weeks and from meadow crops the present outlook is for a good harvest. The ground had become very dry and vegetation was drooping for lack of moisture. The frequent rains have done much to alleviate this condition and the present outlook is that with a fairly warm July with enough rains to keep crops growing it will be a banner year for oats and corn, two of the staples most depended upon by farmers to fatten their stock and horses. These two crops have not been large for the past two years and consequently this summer the animal kingdom suffers.

Oats and Hay

Two weeks ago the outlook for hay and oats were very poor. At the present time there is good prospects of a three-quarter crop with even the outlook for a large crop in some portions of the county. The hay crop will be all cut during the present week with the exception of marsh hay which will come a little later. Oats are looking strong and there will be a good straw when the harvest begins. The rains have been more of the soaking variety than otherwise and the whole good of the water thus poured down has been felt by the crops.

As to Corn

Corn is coming rapidly to the front. While the late spring has kept the crop back the rains and warm days of the past few weeks has done much to help it catch up to a normal growth. Cultivation is progressing nicely and in many fields early corn has tasseled out. Sweet corn will be on the market within ten days in fairly good sized ears. The few fields of wheat in the county are in excellent shape, but Rock county is not a wheat growing county. Rye harvest has commenced and good crops are being stored in the granaries.

Small Fruits

Encouraging reports come from all parts of the county as to the current, blackberry and raspberry crops. The late strawberries also had the advantage of the rains and were very plentiful. The earlier crop was much burned and the berries small. The present outlook is for a fair apple crop. Earlier in the summer there was a worm which seemed to get in the little apples which caused them to drop, but it is thought the rains have also benefited this crop and the yield will be fair. Cherries are in prime condition and have ripened nicely. The crop is being gathered this week.

Poultry

One gentleman who drives continually about the county is authority for the statement that never before has he seen such large flocks of ducks, geese and turkeys in the county as this year. Where about five per cent of the farmers have raised these varieties, now the percentage is nearer thirty and the little flocks all seem to be doing well. Chickens are also plentiful and doing nicely. The poultry business is on the increase, the demand of the past two years having been so large that the farms were almost depleted to keep up with it.

The Stock

Stock is looking better. Grass-fed herds are doing very well but few are being placed on the market as yet. Sheep are on the increase. The high prices for wool has done much to help increase these flocks in the county and the market price for lambs and for hides make them very profitable. Hogs are plentiful but they are not being fattened for the market owing to the scarcity of the feed for them. Last year the corn crop was very poor and hence feed was scarce.

Horses

In some localities in the county there seems to be an epidemic of distemper among the horses. Scarcity of feed has also caused the horses to be below the average. The oat crop was poor last year, hardly more than chaff in some localities and this fails to give nourishment for the horses, while they have the same amount of work to do as formerly. However, with prospects of a good crop this year the fault will be easily remedied.

PRESS COMMENT

Oshkosh Observer: "This is my life work," says Gov. La Follette, "and I must carry it on to a successful end." More than one poor fellow has ended his days in a mad house because he got a certain notion into his head, where it grew and grew and grew.

Exchange: Campaign buttons and complimentary newspaper notices are all right, but some people will not believe that fame has really struck the man from Indiana until they see the Fairbanks 5 cent cigar.

Atchison Globe: The school books should be edited. Less should be said about George Washington and more said to this effect: Ever think, girls and boys, how hard and unceasingly your parents work, and ask no other reward than that you have a good time? Ever realize how unselfish your parents are?

Kansas City Star: Congressman Scott is now shedding many tears over the news that the hotel bill of Secretary Hay in St. Louis was $110 a day. "Secretary Hay runs an apartment house in Washington," says Mr. Scott, "which the tenants buy every time they pay their rent."

Antigo News Item: If Gov. La Follette is laboring under the delusion that he can get an endorsement from the democratic state convention, someone should clear the bats out of the governor's headgear. A Madison dispatch says that indirect overtures have been made by some of the governor's friends in that direction. The nearest asylum to the governor's residence is at Mendota.

Green Bay Gazette: The Tammany brasses four hundred strong and the Rose marching club of Milwaukee were both barred out of the convention at St. Louis. It is believed this was done in order to prevent the Tammany men from influencing the convention against Parker for president and the Rose men from stampeding it for Rose for vice president. At any rate they were barred and likewise mad.

Whitewater Register: This is the way the Wisconsin republican trouble will be settled as we see it. The whole matter will come before the supreme court at an early day; the merits of the case and the action of the national committee and of the national convention will have fair, impartial consideration; another unanimous decision will be given in favor of the stalwart candidates; it will be ordered by the court that their names be put on the ballot, and that the word "republican" be permitted over no other candidates; the rank and file of the party will accept the decision and give an honest support to the ticket which the court declares to be regular; and long before the last speech of the campaign is made and the last gun is fired, the republican voters will all be shoulder to shoulder again under the banners of that peerless leader, Theodore Roosevelt, and that ideal citizen and soldier, Samuel A. Cook.

VERDICT OF THE PARTY

From the report of the Committee on Credentials to the REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION, which was unanimously adopted by that convention, June 25th, 1904.

Your committee report it to be their final judgment that the convention which elected said John O. Spooner, J. V. Quarles, J. W. Babcock and Emil Baensch as delegates at large, and their alternates at large, to this convention from the state of Wisconsin WAS THE REGULAR CONVENTION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IN WISCONSIN, and that the delegates elected by it are the regular elected delegates at large from the state of Wisconsin to the republican convention, and, as such, are entitled to seats in this convention.

A RETURN TO SANITY.

The activity and strength of the stock market is an expression of the financial satisfaction over the return of the democratic party to sanity as evidenced by the nomination of Judge Parker.

The party went far astray and wasted its substance and its strength in an alliance with populism and socialism. Having in 1892 swept the country by an electoral vote of 277 to 145 for Harrison, polling over 45 per cent of the popular vote as against less than 43 per cent, for the republicans, in 1896 it obtained only 176 electoral votes, and in 1900 but 155 as against the republican vote of 271 in 1896 and 292 in 1900, while its proportion of the popular vote fell to 45.58 in 1900, the republican percentage advancing to 54.78. Its alliance with populism and its leadership by Bryan has therefore been a most disastrous experiment. Practically every state in the north and west is now under republican control and vast bodies of democratic voters have allied themselves with the republican party.

But now the democratic party proposes to turn its back on the free silver heresy and the populist theories and nominate a conservative candidate upon a conservative platform. This is a result upon which it is to be congratulated and for which the business of the country is exceedingly grateful.

This does not mean, necessarily, that the candidate chosen by the democratic party is the best that could have been chosen. It is that the platform is likely to be the best expression of government policy that could be drafted. Undoubtedly there is much of compromise in the selection of even a man whom Senator Beveridge described as "a mystery." His nomination is due, first, to the fact that he is the only democrat who has carried the state of New York in the past ten years, and, second, to the fact that having been on the bench for many years, his views upon public issues are unknown. Moreover, there will undoubtedly be much of compromise in the platform, and it looks as if the question of the gold standard might be ignored altogether. Nevertheless, the nomination of Judge Parker is a distinct triumph for the conservative element in the democratic party. The great change which has taken place is signally illustrated by the fact that the leader who swept the democratic convention off its feet by his impassioned oratory in 1896 and who absolutely dominated the situation in 1900 is now almost without influence in the present great gathering of the party.

It is also shown in the cheers for Grover Cleveland, and in the statement by the temporary chairman, Mr. Williams, that the repeal of the Sherman silver purchase law practically established the gold standard, and that the country is destined to remain for a length of time beyond his computation on the gold basis. This from a man who admits that he was opposed to the repeal, and in the convention of a party that twice nominated Bryan on a free silver platform, is indeed significant.

There is reason, therefore, for an uplift in the market and for the increase of confidence among business men. The peril which threatened this country in 1896 and 1900 has passed. We are on solid ground again.

The nomination of Judge Parker leaves this country practically divided into three parties. The more radical element in the democratic party will probably join the populists, or, at any rate, separate themselves from the democrats, just as in 1896 thousands of sound money democrats separated themselves from the party under the leadership of Bryan. Thus there will be a conservative democratic party, a party of populists and radicals, and opposing these two the republican party.

The opportunity of the republican party under these conditions is very great and if it conducts itself properly it may be able to retain control of the government for many years to come. In this campaign, as the situation is developing, it will occupy a position somewhere between the conservative democratic party and the radicals. The democrats under the leadership of Judge Parker must necessarily confine themselves in the main to an attack upon Roosevelt. Their platform will be a platform mainly of criticism rather than of affirmative doctrine. The republican party under Roosevelt, however, represents aggressive issues. Mr. Roosevelt stands for enforcement of law against corporations as well as against offending individuals, for publicity and for opposition to graft in all its forms. He has done things and may be depended upon to do other things. He represents, therefore, an affirmative policy and not a negative one.

Thus there has been a realignment of party lines. The republican party, under the leadership of Roosevelt, while still holding fast to its time-honored doctrines of a protective tariff and sound money, has nevertheless become somewhat more liberal, certainly as regards governmental policy in respect to organized capital and organized labor. The democratic party is about to make a complete revolution, changing from the extreme radicalism of 1896 and 1900 into the extreme conservatism of the Parker leadership of 1904. The extreme radical element are left in a class by themselves, where they must continue to remain. There seems to be no place for them now in either of the two great party organizations.

While the revolution in the democratic party does not in itself constitute a sufficient reason for returning it to power, it does put it in position to profit by any mistakes the republican party may make in the future. In a word, the party has been restored to a condition of effective opposition.

WAR POSSIBILITIES.

Students of the war in the Far East must have noticed a curious development as a consequence of recent fighting. At the time when the Japanese succeeded brilliantly in forcing the passage of the Yalu the Russian line of defense extended approximately east and west. That is to say its rear was upon its own line of communications. If every man had faced right about he would have marched direct to Harbin, which is the junction of the Vladivostok and Port Arthur railroads. The railroad from Harbin to Port Arthur in fact extended at right angles to the Russian front, and Port Arthur had not then been cut off. Port Arthur was cut off soon afterwards, and the Russian front was somewhat changed. The defeat on the Yalu drove the left flank further north, toward the city of Mukden, while the right flank was thrown forward in the ill-fated attempt to relieve Port Arthur.

The severe defeat of that attempt, in a much less degree, of course, recalls the attempt of Marshal McMahon to relieve Bazaine in Metz in the Franco-German war of 1870. It was a strategic mistake. He had everything to lose, and if he had succeeded in bringing his own army within touch of Metz it would have been at the expense of his line of communication. Court influence, and particularly that section whose figurehead was the Empress Eugenie, was too strong for the counsels of sound strategy. The attempt was made. It resulted in the terrible disaster of the Sedan. Except that the Japanese plan of campaign seems to have been well thought out beforehand it almost seems impossible that Japan could have afforded to allow 30,000 Russians to make their way to Port Arthur, provided they did not take any considerable supplies with them. It would only have been so many more mouths of feed, and might quite conceivably have precipitated the inevitable surrender of that fortress.

The Japanese preferred rather to defeat the army detailed for Port Arthur's relief. It will be seen that the Russian front, in consequence, instead of extending from east to west, or between the Yalu River and Niu-Chwang, now extends north and south, or along the line of the railroad between the important port of Niu-Chwang and some place at present undefined on the railroad south of Mukden. A glance at the map will show that the Russian army is facing towards the northerly trend of the Yalu river, 150 miles away, while in its rear is not the secure line of retreat to Harbin and Russia, but the Chinese frontier, at no point much more than 100 miles distant. The Japanese practically hold the Liao-Tung peninsula, and therefore have their objective at right angles to the Russian front. They have cut the railroads to the south, and if all reports be true they extend in a semi-circle, of which the Russian line forms the string of the bow. They may at any time cut the line of retreat on the Russian left flank, which is, of course, the railroad to Mukden.

As we said before the Chinese frontier is directly in the Russian rear. This is most significant, and may represent a development of Russian tactics which has not yet been considered by the diplomats of other countries. Ever since the utter lack of preparation of the Russian government was realized it has seemed plain that the only dignified method of retreat from an almost irretrievable position lies in involving some other power in the dispute. Russia might feel that she could concede to Japan actively backed by other powers what she would not be willing to surrender to that power alone. If the Japanese succeeded in cutting off the Russian retreat to Mukden, or even to Harbin, the only line on which the Russian army could fall back leads direct to the Chinese frontier. The Chinese government, as it has a perfect right to do, has already massed an army said to amount to 20,000 men along the Great Wall, to secure the inviolability of its undisputed territory. Such a force would be no real obstacle even to a defeated Russian army, but in view of the tacit consent of the powers to the neutrality of China serious complications might ensue.

When the French army of the south trespassed on the borders of Switzerland, at least so far as its right flank was concerned, the French soldiers were not handed over by the Swiss government to Germany, but were required to lay down their arms. A similar intimation was given in regard to Belgium at that time, but perhaps because Belgium was under the guarantee of Great Britain and other powers, no trespass was committed. If China were to insist upon the disarmament of a Russian force retreating across its borders, it looks as if the government at Peking would have a very fair case for demanding effective backing from the other powers. It is hard to see how this backing could be refused, and it is possible that if it were authoritatively given Russia might terminate the war then and there. Some such contingency may be behind the strength Russia securities have shown throughout the present campaign.

Parker was wise enough to keep his mouth closed and people begin to believe he really hoped to be nominated.

Those Tammany Braves are not of as much account as they thought they were.

Bryan would not stand for actions on the part of the Illinois state convention similar to the actions of his friend Bob at the Wisconsin convention.

Oratory may help a man once, but Barnum's old saying, "You can fool the people and they like it," has been proven false in the case of Mr. Bryan.

This cold summer is giving the people a chance to avoid the ice man and catch up on their winter coal supply.

The Wisconsin delegation was close to the Wall all the time at St. Louis.

Democracy should be congratulated on throwing Mr. Bryan overboard.

Evidently Mr. Swallow's telegram to Bryan was not appreciated.

Bryan won out a few minor points and lost on the great big ones.

The great unwashed have now gone home and St. Louis still lives.

Grover and his telegraph wire did not do much good.

PRESS COMMENT

Chicago Tribune: There will be trouble when Mr. Bryan is asked for the fifty-seventh time if he ever saugased a platform.

Milwaukee Sentinel: How would it do for Bryan to refuse to abide by the action of the democratic national convention and appeal to the voters for a decision on the subject of reorganization?

Chicago Chronicle: Filippine democrats insist upon being considered United States democrats, but most of the Jeffersonian statesmen want to set them adrift as "free and independent."

Appleton Crescent: There is one plank that Wisconsin democrats generally will demand in their state platform and that is a plain statement in favor of a primary election law.

El Paso Herald: More literature almost has now accumulated about Omar Khayyam than about Shakespeare say the bookish quidnuncs.

La Crosse Leader-Press: It is beginning to appear possible that, if David B. Hill were in President Cleveland's place in 1896, the radicals never would have secured control of the democratic party.

Racine Journal: It appears there is opposition to Geo. W. Pack for the democratic nomination and strong hints are out that Mr. Robert B. Kirkland, of Jefferson, is the man.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The democratic convention is shedding great tears of sorrow for the poor Filipinos, and will endeavor to make a campaign issue out of the wards, which Uncle Sam has already rendered a good service.

Madison Democrat: Small classes are now the rule in theological seminaries. Science, the steel rail, telegraphs, newspapers and the industries afford a more inviting method of bringing the pagans out of darkness.

Generally a girl is pretty fond of you if it makes her furious with you to have anybody else find it out.

When a woman has acted the very worst she knows how there is scarcely any way to mollify her indignation except to make an humble apology to her.

When a woman thinks that her friends are too dressy for their age it is a sign she would suspect she was getting old if it was anybody but herself.

It's as natural for a girl's shoe strings to keep coming untied when she has on fancy open-work stockings as for a man to speak with a careless familiarity of his rich friends when they are out of the country.—New York Press.

Are You Going to Paint? READ THESE FACTS

THE COST for material to paint one hundred square feet of surface with lead and oil is 71c; if using Heath & Milligan Paint it is 50c.

THE WEAR.—Look at your own or your neighbor's house painted last year with lead and oil. Note its faded, dull and chippy appearance. Then look at the following houses in Janesville painted with Heath & Milligan Paints: Tona Baker, J. Conley, T. Kelley, Chas. Roman, J. McCue, John Miller, M. J. Walker, H. J. Smith, C. Jackman, and others.

COVERING CAPACITY.—One gallon of Heath & Milligan Paint will cover more surface than one and one-half gallons of lead and oil, for this reason, it is reground by machinery into a very fine, thoroughly mixed paint.

THE PAINTER does not recommend mixed paint because he can make more money on lead and oil (mixed with benzine and white lead).

HONEST MEN and experienced painters painters are—A. M. SMITH, who says, "I have used Heath & Milligan Paint for 20 years; there is no better."

R. A. CARR, who says, "for fifteen years Heath & Milligan Paint has been my favorite. Ask C. C. Carr or W. Hemmings. They will do you a good job and use Heath & Milligan Paint."

HUTCHINSON & SONS, the oldest paint house in Janesville, cranks on lead and oil, when asked by C. Jackman which mixed paint they would recommend said Heath & Milligan, and they did use it, after Mr. Jackman refused to have any more painter's dope smeared onto his house.

HONEST FACTS all of them. We want to sell you honest paint, be honest with you. Pocket book Use Good Paint.

BADGER DRUG CO.

Influence of Light and Darkness.
A biological laboratory was established in the catacombs, near Paris, in 1896, for the purpose of observing the influence of light and darkness upon different animals. In crustaceans the gray pigment gradually disappears, the eye is modified in its form, and the organs of smell, touch and taste increase until they are tripled in size. Fish in the dark lose their color and grow but half as large as they would in the light.

Is This True?

When a woman asks a number of questions she is possessed of little curiosity. When a man asks a number he is animated by a keen desire to improve his mind and enlarge his sphere of knowledge. This is just another of the little differences between the sexes which ought to show a woman the utter impossibility of ever hoping to attain equality with man.

BURGLAR WAS A COOL CUSTOMER

MADE DAYLIGHT VISITATIONS IN A FROCK COAT.

BOOTS AMOUNTED TO $100

Homes of Edward Ruger and Mrs. Samantha Phillips Broken Into Before Eyes of Neighbors.

Attired in patent leather shoes, a frock coat, and haberdashery in keeping with his faultless apparel a "gentlemanly" burglar visited two residences on Mineral Point avenue yesterday morning, while the occupants were at church, and carried away money and jewelry representing a value of $100. It was shortly before eleven o'clock when Mrs. Helen Hunt who lives with Josiah T. Wright at No. 12 Mineral Point avenue, saw this "gentleman" mount the porch of Edward Ruger's home across the street. He seated himself and removing his hat fanned vigorously for several moments. It was a warm day.

Banged the Shutters
Presently with the greatest deliberation the man walked to the nearest window and peered in. Mrs. Hunt was still observing him and divined that he was there for no good purpose. She was very much perturbed and although there was a telephone in the house it did not occur to her to use it. Instead she stepped to the screen door and slammed it violently. The burglar took the hint and left the porch. As he stepped out upon the street he met Andrew Barron and nodded pleasantly. Mr. Barron did not know the man but returned the bow.

Strolled Around Block
The stranger made his way leisurely around the block onto Washington street and then came back to the home of Mrs. Samantha Ann Phillips on the west. He entered through a window in the front of the house in plain sight of some of the family of Joseph Echlin who were sitting on the piazza of their residence at No. 56 at the same time. After ransacking that house he returned to the Ruger residence and likewise made his entrance there through a window. He was again observed by Mrs. Hunt who believes that she saw a woman's hand extended through the aperture to hand him some articles after he had made his egress. All of this work was done in the brief space of an hour and the burglar, his mission finished, walked slowly down Madison street in the direction of the depot. He had with him $40 and a gold watch taken from the Phillips home and a valuable gold chain worth $40 and some fifteen dollars gathered at the Ruger residence.

Saturday Night Burglary
Saturday night the residence of J. T. Lloyd on Pearl street was entered and a gold watch and $15 in money taken away.

Vacation trips to the east are becoming more popular every year. The people of the central states instead of spending the summer at some little lake near at hand which they have become so used to that it has grown tiresome, go to the seashore resorts or historic cities of the east. The officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and Chicago & North Western roads of this city claim that there are more people going east at the present time and more have been going all summer than has ever been known before. This is just the steady trend of travel and does not include the excursions which are run two or three times each month.

BRAVE RESCUE BY GEORGE HILLER, JR.

Couple Were Nearly Drowned While Rowing Yesterday Afternoon—A Darling Rescue.

What might have been a serious accident and caused the drowning of two pleasure seekers was narrowly averted yesterday afternoon by the bravery of George Hiller, Jr. An unknown couple, a gentleman and a lady, were in a rowboat at the first sand bar yesterday afternoon when the waves of the steamer going to river overtook their boat. Neither could swim and were rapidly tiring in the use of their oars. The gentleman, a young man, was nearly drowned when George Hiller, Jr., and a companion named Clement saw their plight. They were rowing near the bank and quickly turned their boat toward the struggling couple. In some manner their own boat was overturned and the four were again into the water. Hiller managed, however, to place the young lady on his back and with her companion in tow reached the shore. Clement easily reached the shore and helped drag his companion and his burden out of the water. Neither the young lady or gentleman would give their names, but the gentleman made arrangements to meet Hiller later when he would offer proofs of his thankfulness. Mr. Hiller deserves much credit for the manner in which he effected the rescue at the danger of his own life.

Will Hold Annual Picnic: The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Patrick's church and their friends will hold their annual picnic this year on Tuesday, July 19, at Ho-nogah park. GIRL CHARGED WITH FORGERY, IN JAIL

Fifteen Year Old Heckla Valvig of Beloit, Accused of Serious Crime—Trying to Starve to Death.

Hesta Valvig of Beloit, a girl between fifteen and sixteen years of age who came over from Norway a year and a half ago, is in the Rock county jail awaiting a hearing on the charge of forgery. She was arrested and brought to the city Saturday night and since her incarceration has refused to touch a morsel of food and has moaned and cried without ceasing. She is now in a state of collapse. A physician was called last night but was unable to persuade the girl to take any food. Several forged checks, including one on Rosenblatt & Son for $40 and another on Rev. Cheney for $2.50 were cashed by the girl before the fraud was discovered and in an examination of the bureau drawers in the room where she lived several others were found. Since her arrest none of her relatives have been near the girl and Sheriff Appleby left for Beloit this morning to confer with them and persuade them to see the child and endeavor to prevent her from starving. Rev. Cheney had been one of the girl's benefactors and the police are at a loss to understand why she should have chosen him as one of the victims. If indeed she was responsible for the work, there is an attempt in the handwriting to imitate signatures. The checks are made out to some third party with the latter's indorsement on the back of them.

The Beloit Free Press gives the following account:

Hesta Valvig, who has been employed as a domestic since last Wednesday at the residence of C. B. Salmon on Bushnell street, was this afternoon arrested by Chief Scheibel on a charge of forging checks on the Beloit State bank. It is alleged that the girl issued and passed one check for $2.50, signed by Rev. H. R. Cheney, at Bort, Bailey & Co.'s, and another for $24 signed by Rosenblatt & Sons on H. R. Trivitt, a grocer on Fourth street. When closely questioned by the chief this afternoon in police court the girl admitted that the check shown her was one on which she had received money from Bort, Bailey & Co.

The check passed at the Trivitt grocery was taken last Tuesday by Mrs. Clara Trivitt. It was dated May 24, and the forgery was sent to the bank today. The Bort, Bailey & Co. check was taken in early this week and the girl was looked up and made to return the money.

When the chief visited the room of the girl at the Salmon residence this afternoon he found a number of State bank blank checks and one which was the exact counterpart of that passed on Mrs. Trivitt. It was signed by Rosenblatt & Sons, a forgery, and was for the same amount as the one passed.

Mr. Trivitt swore out a warrant for the girl this afternoon and she is now in police custody. She is a very young girl and speaks very brokenly and was positively identified by Mrs. Trivitt as the girl who cashed the check early in the week. She at one time did work at the Rosenblatt factory.

SUSPECTED BURGLAR WAS NOT VERY WARY

Dan Lavine, Arrested and Released, Returned from Chicago Yesterday.

Suspected of being the burglar who entered James Ryan's apartments over Yahn's meat market last Thursday night and stole a gold watch from the clothes which were hanging in the bedroom where Mr. Ryan was peacefully sleeping, Dan Lavine, a suspicious character with shifty eyes, hailing from Chicago, was arrested the next day and held in the lock-up pending investigation. Mr. Ryan was asked to furnish the number of his watch that it might be compared with the number of the timepiece Lavine carried on his person. Like most men he had kept no record and applied to the jeweler who had last cleaned the watch. The jeweler through some misunderstanding gave him the number of his son's watch which was 6442-447. This in no way tallied with the number on the timepiece carried by Lavine and the latter was allowed to go his way. He had been released but a few hours when Mr. Ryan's mistake was discovered and the real number—147229—ascertained. The record of Lavine's watch had been kept and the number it bore was found to be identical with that finally furnished by the jeweler. The police officials started out on a hunt for Lavine but he had escaped from the city. It has since been learned that he went to Chicago, and thence to Milwaukee. Yesterday the station at Delavan was entered and some railway tickets stolen. Officers here were warned to be on their watch as the pasteboards taken were some round-trip tickets to Janesville. At the St. Paul depot about six o'clock Special Policeman John Dalton espied a man who answered to the descriptions and he was soon hurried to the lock-up. The man was Lavine and he had with him the self-same watch that had been examined on the occasion of his incarceration a few days before. Thus far Lavine has neither affirmed or denied his guilt. He is a young man about seventeen years of age.

Johnny Not Such a Fool.
"When I have occasion to punish my son," said the austere man, "I always tell him that it hurts me more than it does him." "I don't," replied the plain, practical citizen; "Johnny may be a little headstrong and disobedient, but he has too much sense to believe anything like that."—Washington Star.

While fishing from a boat near Yost's park yesterday afternoon William Quackenbush was accidentally shot by a bullet from a Krag-Jorgensen rifle in the hands of his brother-in-law, William Held, who was shooting at a target on shore. The bullet took effect in the left side of the body. Observers on shore who heard his cry hastened to the aid of the unfortunate man and he was carried to an interurban car and taken to the hospital in Beloit. He is in a very critical condition.

Roast Monkey.
The savage tribes in the interior of Brazil are exceedingly fond of roast monkey. Humboldt estimated that one small tribe of 200 Indians consumed over 1,200 monkeys during a year. It is said that until recently monkey meat was for sale in the butcher shops of Rio Janeiro. Mr. Wallace, when in the Amazon region, had a monkey cut up and fried for breakfast. The flesh somewhat resembled rabbit in flavor, and had no unpleasant or peculiar taste.

HOUNDS TRAIL HUMAN BRUTES WOMAN IS VICTIM OF ASSAULT

Failing to Accomplish Their Purpose, the Villains Leave Mother and Her Offspring to Perish—Former Is Rescued, but Little One Is Dead.

Newcastle, Ind., July 11.—Her babe found lifeless near by and the mother left for dead in an abandoned criminal assault Saturday night on Mrs. W. M. Starbuck at her home near Greensboro, eight miles from this city. Mr. Starbuck returned home at 10:30 at night, and hearing faint screams searched a strip of woodland near the house and found his wife and the body of the baby. A posse with bloodhounds is scouring the country, and if the guilty person or persons are found a lynching may result.

Hounds on the Trail.
The bloodhounds struck a trail at the old well in which the bodies were found. They followed the trail to a hitching post about two miles east. Farmers say that late Saturday afternoon they saw three men get out of a wagon at this post and hitch their horse. Suspicion points to a person or persons, but sufficient evidence is not yet at hand to warrant an arrest.

At 8 o'clock Saturday night William Starbuck kissed his wife and baby girl goodby and climbed into his buggy with his 3-year-old daughter to drive to this place. Two hours later he drove into his barnyard. He heard a faint cry, and, rushing into the house, found it deserted.

Rescues Wife from Well.
An eighth of a mile from the house and eight yards within the woods is an abandoned well, walled up with heavy planks. It is about eight feet deep and contains about four feet of stagnant water. Leaning over the curbing, he saw his wife standing in the water up to her armpits. He was unable to pull her out, but with the help of a neighbor, John Hutson, he soon rescued her. She was hurried to the house, but had lost consciousness by this time, and not a word of information has been secured from her that would lead to the identity of her assailants.

Woman's Condition Is Serious.
There is a bruise over Mrs. Starbuck's right eye such as could have been made by a sling shot. There is also a bruise on her throat. With her in the well was the babe. So far as can be determined without an autopsy the baby was not choked or beaten, but its death was due to drowning. Mrs. Starbuck's condition is critical.

LAWSON OFFERS MONEY FOR DEMOCRATIC FUND

Will Give $100,000 if Senator McCarren Can Prove He Was Not Trusted Agent of Standard Oil Trust.

Boston, Mass., July 11.—Desirous of settling for all time the dispute between himself and Senator Patrick H. McCarren, democratic leader of Kings county, New York, over the assertion that the senator is a trusted agent of the Standard Oil magnates, Thomas W. Lawson has offered to pay the sum of $100,000 to the democratic national committee if the charge were proved untrue.

The dispute has been acrimonious, Senator McCarren having twice asserted that Mr. Lawson lied. When he first read Mr. Lawson's charge he said the author of it was a liar. Mr. Lawson reiterated the charge. The senator again declared Mr. Lawson a liar.

"If Senator Pat McCarren of Brooklyn, N. Y., is not and has not been one of the trusted Standard Oil agents," declared Mr. Lawson, "I will pay over to the democratic national committee $100,000. I have little doubt that Mr. McCarren has pledged round sums from Standard Oil and its affiliated Havemeyer concerns in the event of his candidate being nominated.

"If Mr. McCarren can secure my $100,000 for the democratic national committee I will be only too willing to pay, because I will then have absolute proof that my direct informant, Henry H. Rogers of the Standard Oil, comes under the head of the nebulous characterization so jocosely used by Mr. McCarren to cover me, and every occupant of 26 Broadway, from the office boy up to John D. Rockefeller and from Havemeyer down to the elevator man, will at the same time know that eyes and ears are as unreliable as the eighth commandment after it has been through a Standard Oil petroleumizing machine."

NURSE JANE TOPPAN IS A MENTAL WRECK

Woman Who Confessed to Poisoning Thirty-One Persons Is in Serious Condition in Taunton Asylum.

Boston, Mass., July 11.—Dementia has developed in Miss Jane Toppan, the professional nurse who was sentenced two years ago to confinement for life in the insane hospital at Taunton after she had confessed that she poisoned Mrs. Mary D. Gibbs of Chicago, and the opinion of experts on insanity that she was morally irresponsible.

Although the court dealt only with one case, Miss Toppan made a confession that she had, during ten years, poisoned thirty-one persons, nearly all of whom were patients confined to her care.

When she was committed to Taunton she was apparently in good health. She weighed more than 150 pounds. Now she is emaciated. Mental imbecility that means physical disintegration has complete possession of the nurse.

ADMITS MURDERING FOUR MEN

Negro Convict Awaiting Gallows Confesses to Old Crimes.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 11.—John Johnson, a negro, who, with Frank Onley, also a negro, will be hanged for the murder of James Donnelly, a grocer, has confessed to four other murders. He says he was born in Georgia, and when about 18 years old started out as a tramp. Two of his victims were traveling with him in a box car on a Virginia railroad. After murdering them for the $5 in their possession he threw their bodies from the car while the train was going. His other two victims suffered a like fate on a Georgian railroad.

FIXES HEAVY BAIL FOR MINERS

Cripple Creek, Colo., July 11.—Judge Cunningham, in the district court, fixed the bonds of ten of the members of the Western Federation of Miners held in the county jail on charges of murder, assault to murder and conspiracy to murder in connection with the Independence explosion and the subsequent events of the week of June 6, at $10,000, and of twenty others at $5,000 each. Twelve were refused admittance to bail.

LYNCH NEGRO IN MISSISSIPPI

Coroner's Jury Says Death Was Caused by Unknown Persons.

Houston, Tex., July 11.—"We, the jury, find that the deceased, Jesse Tucker, came to his death by hanging at the hands of unknown parties," was the verdict of the coroner's jury at the bridge of the Mobile and Ohio railroad, under which hung at the end of a rope the body of Jesse Tucker, a negro who had been lynched for an attempted assault on Mrs. J. E. Johnson.

LOSES PLACE AND TAKES LIFE

Girl Cashier at Racine, Wis., Swallows Carbolic Acid.

Racine, Wis., July 11.—The deepest mystery surrounds the suicide of Anna Nimms, a beautiful girl, 20 years of age, whose parents reside at Watertown, Wis., and who, after writing two letters, drank two ounces of carbolic acid. The girl was employed as a cashier by Frank Lintner, a wholesale and retail baker, and was discharged. The employer says it was because of her refusal to obey orders. On being notified of her discharge Miss Nimms purchased carbolic acid and was seen to write letters which she placed on a dresser.

St. Louis, July 11.—The foreign exhibitors, backed by the commissioners from their respective countries, threaten to withdraw their exhibits if the fair management persists in treating the exhibitors as concessionaires. They are required to pay a royalty of 25 percent on goods sold, and the management says it will not alter this rule.

SEVENTEEN ARE KILLED IN EXCURSION WRECK

Fifty Others Injured When Train Carrying Hoboken Germans Is Struck by Regular.

New York, July 11.—Seventeen persons were killed and fifty injured in a collision at Midvale, N. J., just before noon Sunday, when a regular passenger train on the Greenwood Lake branch of the Erie railroad ran into an excursion train that had stopped to take water. The accident resulted from a tower operator's mistake.

Following is a list of the dead: Henry Ottorstedt, Hoboken; William Woldemeyer, Jr., Hoboken; William Renz, New York; Mrs. Anna Lemkohl, New York; William Lane, Hoboken; Henry Becker, Hoboken; William Rohlfing, Hoboken; William Winderneehl, Hoboken; George Scheer, Hoboken; Henry Koch, Hoboken; Isadore Manser, Hoboken; Frank Holmweiddell (child), Hoboken; George McDermott, Hoboken; William Wistow, West Hoboken, E. K. Kelly, Jersey City; Agnes Lemkohl (child), New York; boy, name supposed to be Batterson.

The train which was run into was a special carrying members of the First Plattender association of Hoboken, on their annual outing, and had 500 passengers. It consisted of twelve cars and two engines. It is declared the engineer of the regular train had slowed down to ten miles an hour before he crashed into the special, but his engine tore through the rear car and the greater part of its length and drove the forward end of that car into the car ahead. The killed and injured were in these two cars.

The engineer and fireman of the regular train disappeared from the scene after the accident. Both escaped injury by jumping.

CHILD IS NAMED AFTER PARKER

Born and Christened About Same Time Jurist Is Nominated.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—Probably the first child in the country to be named after the presidential nominee at St. Louis came into the world in Indianapolis at exactly the same hour the nomination was made. The birth occurred at the city hospital. The mother, Mrs. Ella Drinnin, an Auburn-haired woman from the Emerald Island, appears happy at the christening of the child in honor of the great New York jurist. The attending physician suggested to Mrs. Drinnin that the child be named after the St. Louis nominee. She readily consented and in the presence of a number of nurses the little tot was christened James Parker Drinnin.

Old-Time Authors Poorly Paid.

Johnson sold for £200 his "Lives of the Poets," the monumental work which brought £5,000 clear profit to its publishers within a quarter of a century; and the £100 he received for his "Rasselas" proved little more than sufficient to bury his mother, the object for which he wrote it. Fielding was more fortunate, for "Tom Jones" rewarded him with £700 and "Amelia" brought him £1,000 "as dower."

Married Men Understood.

In a murder trial in Lancaster, Mo., State Attorney Smoot asked a woman witness some questions about her domestic affairs. The witness resented the asking of such a question, saying, "I reckon a woman has a right to boss her own house." Mr. Smoot asked what she meant by that, whereupon Judge Shelton interposed: "The remark made by the witness is perfectly clear, and I am confident the jury understands what she means. They are all married men."

HO! FOR ST. LOUIS

Special Daylight Coach Excursion From
Janesville July 25th to the World's Fair...

$28.00

Pays All Expenses For Eight Days.

The best opportunity to visit the World's Fair at a moderate outlay and in the most comfortable manner. All expenses are covered in the $28.00 charge for eight days. AN IDEAL TIME FOR MAKING YOUR VISIT TO THE FAIR.

THE WISCONSIN OUTING CLUB has now perfected arrangements for a visit to the World's Fair, St. Louis, by which we can offer to our friends and patrons more real pleasure and comfort than can be obtained, for the money, in any other way.

We have established a white city within two blocks of a main entrance to the Fair Grounds and on an elevation that overlooks the exposition. Our camp is on the same block as the Epworth League Hotel and only one square from three of the best street car lines in the city.

The tents were made from double filled heavy army duck by one of the best manufacturers in the country and are warranted not to leak. They have 6 ft. walls and each tent has four bedrooms and a hall. They have wooden floors, are carpeted, and each bedroom has full sized double bed, iron bedstead, good springs, wool mattress, blankets, etc. All brand new and furnished by Marshall Field of Chicago. We have arranged to serve breakfasts at our camp, then lunch and 6 o'clock dinners at the Palace Du Costume Cafe, one of the very best on the grounds. This will enable all who so desire to enter the grounds right after breakfast and remain there until closing time, 11:30 P. M. This arrangement will add much to the pleasure of our guests for the memory of an evening spent on the Pike will remain through life like the fragments of Moore's Rose Vase:

"You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will,
The scent of the roses will hang round it still."

Our plan does away with the necessity for street cars to and from the grounds which at a time when most needed are always the most crowded.

We are now arranging a special daylight excursion from Janesville July 25th. Tickets good on ANY ROAD between Chicago and St. Louis. We would advise taking the morning train from Chicago so that you may reach our camp in time for supper.

On arrival at Union Station, St. Louis, take car on 18th street, north to Olive Street, then transfer to car marked DELMAR GARDEN. Our camp is one block S. W. from entrance to Delmar Garden.

THE $28.00 RATE PAYS FOR

1. All railroad fare from Janesville to St. Louis and return.
2. All street car fare from Union Station, St. Louis, to our White City and return.
3. Transfer of self and baggage in Chicago.
4. All baggage transfers in St. Louis.
5. Three meals at camp on Sunday.
6. All breakfasts at our camp while in St. Louis.
7. All lunches and six o'clock dinners on the Fair grounds.
8. Daily admissions to the grounds.

Tradesmen Forget Soldiers' Bills.

As an evidence of the interest and earnestness of the Japanese people it is customary among the trades people, whenever a family that they have been supplying with the necessities of life is deprived of the father of the family in consequence of his going to war, to continue to supply all their needs the same as before and without sending any bill therefor.

Made Business of Stealing.

In order to get up in business for himself, a shoemaker's assistant in Paris stole 3,600 pairs of boots during a period of four months.

Telegraph to Iceland.

Iceland, cut off from the rest of the world save for slow mails, is to be linked to other countries by means of wireless telegraphic connection with the Shetland Islands. This is to follow the action of the Icelandic parliament, at its last session, in voting a yearly subsidy of $9,380 for twenty years for that purpose.

Benefit of Irrigation.

The Nile dam at Assouan enabled the Egyptians last summer to supply 20,000,000 extra tons of water daily at the critical time for agriculturists.

Tibet's Postal Service.

Tibet has a regular postal system, of a kind. The stamp on letters is merely a native character impressed in red sealing wax. When one wants to post a letter in Tibet he takes it to the nearest postoffice and pays the amount due for postage. Then the letter has the above mentioned seal placed upon it and the postal authorities take charge of it.

Japs Skillful With the Needle.

It is considered that Japanese men are among the best needleworkers in the world, their only equals being the women of Russia.

Crooked and Straight.

Once upon a time there was a crooked man who walked a crooked mile, and found a crooked sixpence against a crooked stile; but, contrary to the generally accepted opinion, he did not expend the sixpence in the purchase of a crooked cat, but searched for the loser of the sixpence, and when he was found the coin was returned to him.

Moral—A crooked man can be straight.
